STEP 1

Remove the padded inserts and set them aside. Depending on whether you have a slim or normal size keyboard, you may need these later to ensure it is properly secured.

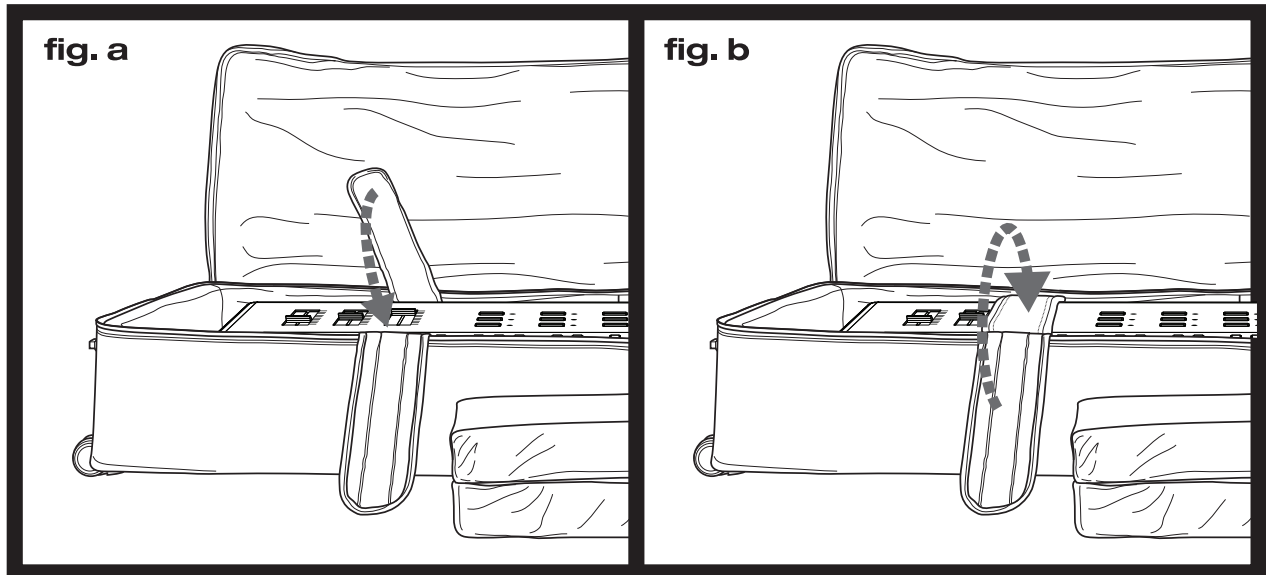

STEP 2

Place your keyboard into the case and center it. Make sure it is properly seated.

STEP 3

Pull the left rear strap forward over the keyboard (fig. a). While holding it in place, pull the front strap towards the back of the bag and velcro it onto the rear strap (fig. b). Make sure you've pulled the straps as tightly as possible to ensure that the keyboard is safely secured in place. Repeat these steps for other straps.

STEP 4

As mentioned in step 1, the size of the keyboard will determine if you will need to use the padded inserts. Place one into each end of the bag, ensuring that they fit snugly against the sides of the keyboard. If the keyboard fits perfectly, you can place the foam inserts on top of it as an additional layer of protection.
